1. Claims 8,20 are objected to because of the following informalities:

In claims 8,20, it is unclear which part of the "thickness" of the apparatus is referred to.

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tan (Pat # 5,436,570).

As to claim 1, Tan discloses an apparatus for testing a socket having a first side (5) including a generally planar surface, a lid portion (20) including the first side (5) including a first side and having a dimension at least large enough to cover or extend over a plurality of contacts of a socket (21) and a test device portion (15.7)) integral with the lid portion (20) and having a plurality of energy conduits (15) to provide a response to a plurality of energy stimuli to a second side (bottom surface of the lid portion (20)) disposed opposite the first side and a second side (22) having a dimension suitable to be removably coupled to a socket (21).

As to claim 2, it appears that the lid portion (20) includes a dimension to protect the contact of the socket (21) from impact and electrically coupled from the first side.

As to claim 3, it appears that the energy conduits (15) includes a plurality of stimuli transfer zones (contact surfaces of the conduits (15)). -

As to claim 4, it appears that the energy conduits (15) are to transfer a plurality of energy stimuli (test signals) between the second side (bottom surface of the lid portion (20)) and the first side (5).

As to claim 5, it appears that the stimuli transfer zones are to transfer the energy stimuli (test signals) between the zones and the contact by electrical contact.

As to claims 6-7, it appears that the stimuli transfer zones (contact surfaces of the conduits (IS)) are to couple to the contacts by a coupling causing a force actuation compression or compliance of the contacts through forces, from an operator or machine.

2. Claims 8-24 and 34-36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

It appears that the original specification does not have support for the limitations of amended claims 8, 20 and 34-36.

3. It appears that the phrase “adapted to be attached to via a vacuum force attachment” is an intended use, therefore this limitation is not given any patentable weight, therefore the rejections of claims 1-7, Furthermore, it appears that paragraph # 9 of the specification does not have support for the limitations of “a thickness” less than or equal to a depth of the cavity as recited in claims 8 and 20 and “a thickness” to allow a retainer of the socket to close over the apparatus” as recited in claims 34-36.

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
